NEARLY KILLED WHILE HE TRIED TO BOARD TRAIN

This morning at 9:30, while an extra freight train to Fond du Lac was passing the five points, a poor, be-fuddled vetary of Puchus, who was too far gone even to give his name, attempted with wavering steps to jump his way by riding the loose rods under a box car. But for the interference of Switchman John Barry, who seized him before he could attempt his hazardous feat, he would surely have lost his life for the attempt in his condition would have been certain suicide.

TRAFFIC WILL BOOM AS RESULT OF WEATHER

Reports from the Madison division and other northern points indicate that there will probably be a little boom in traffic, especially south-bound freight. This is explained by the fact that the present weather is especially favorable for crops, and farmers instead of holding back anything, are hastening to get rid of their holdings before prices, in anticipation of a heavy yield, begin to drop.

EXPECT PEDESTRIAN WHO IS MAKING A VERY LONG TRIP

Another long distance pedestrian, Charles A. King, by name, who expects to complete his long jaunt from St. Paul to New York in seventy days, is expected to arrive at the passenger station about July 3, where the ticket agent, C. O. Tamber, has a package of advertising matter for him. King is not traveling for pleasure but in the interests of a St. Paul shoe firm who take this means of advertising their product. The entire distance is to be traversed in but one pair of the company's shoes.

Storekeeper John Tice and his two assistants, Louis Murphy and J. A. Kay, are busily engaged in taking the annual inventory which they expect to finish about July 6. It is necessary to weigh and classify every article in the store, and as the list of merchandise kept on hand has been curtailed as much as possible in view of the inventory, the job is not as formidable as might be supposed.

Instructions in regard to extra equipment for passenger trains on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, July 3, 4, and 5 have been received at the round house. A number of trains, including 529, 521, 517, 547, will have extra coaches to take care of the probable increase in passenger traffic.

Engineer C. B. Smith, who has been firing the Fond du Lac passenger runs with Engineer Bruzelli, has been ordered to Fond du Lac to work out of there as freight engineer. Fireman Krueger is taking his place.

Engineer Schoenberg and Fireman R. K. Smith went south on 580 last night on account of pool crows resting.

Engineer Crowley and Fireman Hachshaw came down from Fond du Lac with engine 1138 this morning and went on the board.

Engineer Cole dispatched last night.

Engineer Shelley went to Chicago this morning to take his new runs.

Engineer S. O. Dudley was on the six o'clock switch engine last night.

Engine 1378 was sent to the Chicago shops and in train 582 this morning.

Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, Engineer Wilkinson and Fireman Gleason took 20 to Milwaukee this morning.

Fireman C. Harvey came in on 193 last night and went out on 194 this morning with Engineer Seely.

Engineer Selekter and Fireman Gleason came in on 7 last night.

Engineer Smith and Fireman Bates went out on 91 this morning.

Brakeman James Hagany made his first trip on the Mineral Point way freight this morning.

The swing crew has taken the Mineral Point passenger runs in place of Engineer Fox and Fireman Cornelius.

A new style of male collar, a sort of egg or billiard ball effect, is all the rage among the Bremen and Bremen men just as present. The reason given for the bill-boarded cut is that it is cooler but it is rumored that they intend to paint their effluvia and appear in the Nonpareil circus parade in a touching little tableau called "The Bad Eggs."

MILTON GUN CLUB IS TO HAVE TOURNAMENT

SAY RIVALS TRIED TO STEAL COBE CUP

Mrs. Chevrolet, wife of the successful contestant for the Western Vanderbilt trophy, the Cobé cup.

Chicago, June 29.—"Tell him he had better bury that cup for awhile. Just a friendly tip. Goodbye."

Such was the telephone message received at the Bulok offices for Mr. Chevrolet, winner of the Cobé cup in the Western Vanderbilt race, last week. The party at the other end of the line had just asked for Chevrolet and upon being informed he was not there left the above message for him. It was regarded as a practical joke at the time, but later developments have led many to believe it was a fact and that either some petty jealousy or a desire to hold the trophy led some party to attempt to get possession of it.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

(Copyright, 1939, by American Press Association.)

HOW TO KEEP YOUNG.

The way to keep young is to keep young in spirit.

That is to say—

If you want to renew your spirit you should cultivate the things that make for youth—new faces, new ideas, new memories, new hopes, new enthusiasms.

If, for instance, you cultivate only the old memories, brooding over them in the chimney corner, excluding the memories of yesterday and last week, your mind will form the trick of following the old channels, and you will come to live on the old memories.

Or—

If you, withdraw yourself from the new faces, shrink from sociability and, like a rat in his hole, issue forth only when you must, you will soon become a back number. Let this world alone for over so short a time and it will let you alone for good and all.

Or—

If you are inhospitable to new ideas your attention to the things of current interest will soon grow calloused. The mind grows by what it feeds on.

Or—

Come from your earnest endeavors, "retire from business," make no plans, indulge no hopes of future accomplishments. What can you expect? You will age rapidly, both in body and in spirit.

But if you keep a youthful soul by means of new memories, faces, ideas, hopes, you will not only keep old age in the background, but you will have sympathy for the young and tolerance.

You will not say, as so many elderly persons are apt to say:

"Well, people did things differently when I was young. Manners and customs were better in the good old days."

Rather you will ask yourself if you really did do better in your day and whether, after all, the world is not growing better.

Above all, if you would keep young in spirit be careful your temper does not grow intolerable. Do not become irascible as you grow older. The manifestation of temper in an elderly person is not only very unbecoming, but it is dangerous to him who indulges it.

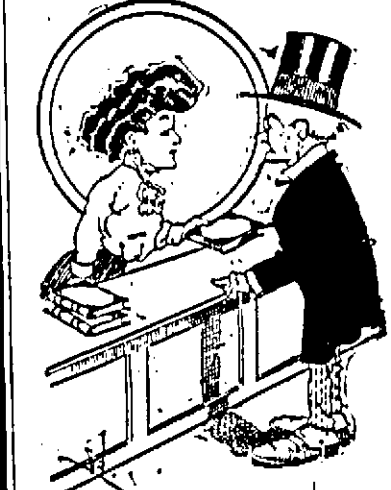

You should have learned to control your feelings. You should have learned how to cultivate the virtues of patience and tact, and sympathy and charity.

And, if so, you will realize the truth of the Scripture that, while "the outer man decays, the inner man is renewed day by day."

Grow old gracefully and graciously.

TARIFF TINKERING

To take the tariff law in hand And fit it to the taste Is quite an easy task if one Has several years to waste.
 To cut a little here and there And add a line or two Is such a simple task if one Doesn't have the work to do.

The man who dally sits around The little corner store Can tell you how to cut it up And confidence restore.
 And any one who wasn't near The place where it was done Would say that to revise it right Was just the same as fun.

But when a fellow on the job Gets busy with his knife To prune away the surplus words He meets a deal of strife.
 Each infant industry declares With moisture in its eye If any of its corns are pared That it will surely die.

And that is why a congressman May earn at least his pay, For when the case is up to him And he must speak away
 He cannot figure on results Nor answer at a glance,
 And so he has to shut his eyes, Strike out and take a chance.

The above bit of poetry gives a clever Idea of what is being done down at Washington these hot days. Congress is wrestling with the question of tariff revision and the country waits the result with interest. The lower house some time ago presented its views on the subject of the tariff and the Senate took its part in the deliberations and from present accounts the bill as originally framed will not be re-cognized when it returns for confirmation. This is Tarriff Tinkering with a vengeance and the country waits the results.

BEGIN TALKING

Already the political gossip has begun their preliminary talk relative to the gubernatorial possibilities for next year. Even in times of peace the average politician believes in preparing for war. The present outlook is that there will be plenty of material in the field for the coveted nomination and that the question of the senatorial fight will have lots to do with the question of who is chosen. Wisconsin politics for years past has been one succession after another of intrigues in which the question of national government has been the important portion of the political creed.
 The Senate investigating committee is to sit in judgment on its fellow men until the legislature convenes again and in the meantime lay plans for the coming campaign of 1910. The true politician never stops working and scheming for the future.

It is born in the man that self-protection of interests he represents must be first attended to regardless of all feelings or sense of propriety. Functions rise and fall, but the skillful politician goes on in one way or another planning for the next campaign. Perhaps it is in the ward fights he begins his career but it soon extended to the city, then the county and state and then—perhaps—his influence is felt in the nation at large. Politics has become a business and the successful office-holder can always step from handling the affairs of the state or nation into a good paying position of some corporation he has most bitterly opposed on the stump or in the halls of congress. It is a business pure and simple and already the state is beginning to feel the finger on the pulse of public opinion for next summer's campaign.

The Summer Club of Household Economies have taken up a good work in trying to give the little people of the tenement districts of Chicago a summer outing and it is hoped they will be aided by persons who are able to give from their plenty to make it a success.

The Salvation Army is seeking funds to purchase a building in the heart of the city to further their work. This little corps of earnest workers reach a class of people that otherwise be neglected and their labors should be aided by all citizens who seek the betterment of their fellow men and women.

If Janesville does not let the world at large know that it is celebrating on July 5th it will be no fault of the men having the celebration in charge.
 It is a hard, thankless job and one which many shun but some one must do the work.

The talk of extension of the streetcar line round through Forest park and the resumption of the discarded line with an extension is a move in the right direction, but the company should place new cars in commission if they want to make it a successful venture.

Tonight the common council begins its work of weeding out the saloons that are not to receive a license this year. There has been much talk and comment on the subject and the outcome will be watched with interest by not only the liquor element but also by the anti's.

The hot wave of the past week has started the migration to the lake resorts and from now until frost comes there will be busy times in sylvan dells and placid mirror-like lakes.
 The fish will also come in for their share of fun.

Chicago has its bomb mysteries, but thus far the police are not able to solve who threw them any more than their ancestors were "Who hit Billy Patterson?"

Think hot weather always brings on an era of crime. If statistics are watched, New York, Maryland and Illinois are just at present at the fore front with mysteries for detectives to solve.

It might be wise to remind the small, but enthusiastic, boy that the celebration of the Fourth of July does not begin a week before, but is concluded on the Fifth.

Taft may not care for the republic-can party machine, but he does care for what he considers to be the best interests of the nation at large.

of Emporia

By WALT MASON (Copyright, 1900, by George Matthew Adams.)

Every day we read the story of some vessel tempest-tossed, which sounds forth a wireless message and would otherwise be lost.
 It would join the ghost
 THE WIRELESS
 ly squadrons in the realm beneath the wave, were it not for modern science, which can rob the ocean grave. Vainly of such mighty marvels—all in vain the poet sings! They would need another Homer and a harp with east-iron strings! We can only pause in wonder, as we read those thrilling tales of the mystic spark that carries news of shipwreck through the gales. We can only take our lids off to the noble master mind, that achieved this latest triumph over fog and wave and wind.
 Yet, to show appreciation we might buy some shares of stock in the Wireless Corporation; or, better, just around the block, with each share we'll get a picture of a Hero—maybe twins—and, in time, in every parlor there will hang a Johnnie Sims; there will be so many Johnnies, coming from the rescued ships, that they'll form a secret order, with its passwords, signs and grips.

MARVEL FLOUR ALWAYS PURE

MARVEL Flour has never been bleached, and never will be bleached, because we use only the highest grade of wheat and spend plenty of time and money in the natural, perfect milling of all flour that bears our name. We don't have to change our plant to comply with the law. Order MARVEL Flour from your grocer now. It is pure and always has been. Other flours have been forced by the U. S. Gov't to stop "bleaching" and become pure. MARVEL Flour is pure; the same today as it always has been, the most palatable, nourishing and economical flour in the world.

Don't eat baker's bread unless you know that it is made from MARVEL Flour. We mill only the highest grade wheat, and yet our flour costs no more than the poorly made and bleached product. You will make better and more bread, biscuits, cake and pastry with MARVEL than you will with any flour sold today. Try it and satisfy yourself. Its pure, healthful, nourishing and economical.

Listman Mill Co., La Crosse, Wis.

Though one of the Oldest and Largest Millers in the U.S., we've never made a bleached flour.

CELEBRATIONS IN THE OLDEN DAYS

HOW JANESVILLE KEPT THE NA-TION'S BIRTHDAY WHEN IT WAS A VILLAGE.

AN INTERESTING ARTICLE

Nonesuch Bros. Circus Did Not Make Visits, but Everyone Enjoyed Themselves.

Just at this time, when Janesville is preparing for a Fourth of July celebration of stupendous size and magnitude—if we can believe the general press agent—it is interesting to read how the Fourth was celebrated in former years. "Jack" Alden has written the following article, which is most interesting reading and will be enjoyed by many of the old-timers, recalling days of former celebrations years ago:

In the early days when Janesville was a frontier village the celebration of the fourth of July was anxiously looked forward to by the rising generation of young Americans. That patriotism was the predominant spirit it was evidenced by the fact that in 1847 a fourth of July celebration was successfully carried out by the residents of the village with the support of the neighboring towns.

In 1850 a more elaborate celebration was promulgated. In that year we had the new Milwaukee street bridge built on piles with a trestled approach from Main street to the river.

In 1854 the village had grown to the magnitude where it could boast of a fire department, and on July 4th of that year was witnessed the first real celebration with an organized parade. We had two fire extinguishers, the Washington No. 1 and Water Witch No. 2, both hand engines with a motive power of thirty men, fifteen on a side. The department at that time consisted of 160 men with Chief Kemp at the head and Col. W. H. Britton as captain of the "Water Witch." That the annual parades of the fire ladders with their red shirts, light-colored pants and big leather hats was a drawing card goes without saying.

It was an imposing sight to see the two companies with their uniforms parade the streets on this natal day.
In 1850 the village board, in the exuberance of their generosity, purchased a second-hand six-pound cannon, which did valiant duty for a number of years thereafter.

When the Civil war broke out it found the then city of Janesville ready and willing to furnish its quota of the slaves of war, and before the next fourth of July two companies had gone to the front.

In 1864 the fourth of July was celebrated in the evening by the news that Vicksburg had been captured by Gen. Grant, and to add zest to the hilarity the telegrams added that Lee had surrendered (Hemingway and that the war was ended. The city was wild with excitement over the news. Both hand engines with their red shirts and the hook and ladder companies and the then newly organized fire police headed one of the first parades celebrating over witnessed in the city. That night the old cannon was put into service and round after round was fired in honor of the victories that were supposed to release our boys who had gone to the front. We had our celebration all right, but alas, for the morning, when the news came that Vicksburg alone was taken, and that Gen. Lee was presenting as solid a front as ever.
But we had Vicksburg, notwithstanding the bombastic boast of Gen. Pemberton that he would die in the last ditch. Gen. Grant made the statement that he would cut his fourth of July people in Vicksburg, and James Swords, editor of the Vicksburg Hor-ald, facetiously replied in his paper, which by the way was printed on one side of wall-paper, that it was first necessary to catch the rabbit before a public. On July 4th Gen. Grant, in shaking hands with Mr. Swords, just before noon of that day, said: "Mr.
Swords, I've caught the rabbit."

For the next few years the fire department, aided by the boys in their cragmouth suits, served as the inspiration for the celebrations, and many a happy fourth was spent in the city.
At that time about the only nourishment was found in the generous lunches of ginger bread, root beer and lemonade, but, nevertheless, negre-chairs and toy balloons were in abundance.

After 1865 a new regime took possession of the program and the old boys were relegated to back seats.

SERIOUS BLAZE AT SHIELDS' GROCERY

Was Started by Revolver Fire at Close Quarters on Supposed Mad Dog Hiding Among Gasoline Barrels.

In attempting to kill a dog which was fouling at the mouth and appeared to be afflicted with rabies and which had taken refuge among some barrels of gasoline in a little storehouse addition to his grocery at 623 Logan street, Joseph T. Shields accidentally set fire to his premises at 4:30 yesterday afternoon. Flames escaped from one of the barrels were ignited by the fire from the weapon and following a loud explosion, the entire structure burst into flames.
The heavy downpour of rain just at that time checked the spread of the fire to some extent but when the department arrived on the scene it looked as if the entire store and its contents might be consumed. However, Howe Co. No. 2 turned a stream of water from a line of hose 1,000 feet long on the frame building, and thanks to the aid of Company No. 1 and the chemical engine handled by the police patrol, the flames were soon under control. Much of the stock was damaged by fire and water and by the smoke which even penetrated the second story of the building where much of the stock was stored. The total loss will amount to fully $500. It is fully covered by insurance.

nessed the canonization of two saints

WANT GRAVEL IN MACADAM'S PLACE

Owners of Property on North High And Madison Streets Appeared Before Assessments Committee.

Protests against the proposed plan of macadamizing North High and Madison streets and suggestions that gravel be used instead were filed with the street assessment committee yesterday by Comy Judge Sato, ex-Mayor Hodges, ex-Alderman W. H.
Merritt, F. S. Daines, E. W. Lowell, and others yesterday. The main argument advanced is that gravel will serve just as well and will not cost one-fourth as much. The projected improvements include a cement curb and gutter and altogether would cost about $132 per foot.

CALDWELL BARN WAS HIT BY LIGHTNING

Lightning Tore Hole in Roof of Shed And Set It Ablaze Out Rain Quenched Flames.

During the electrical storm yesterday afternoon lightning struck a tobacco shed on the farm of James Caldwell on the Edgerton road. A large hole was torn in the roof, the rafters were broken out, and the building started to blaze, but the downpour of rain extinguished the flames. The building was one hundred and twenty feet in length. Two hired men who had sought refuge from the shower in the end opposite to that which was struck, received a shock strong enough to make them leave their seats, and of sufficient magnetic force to stop their watches.

FIFTY-TWO SALOONS ASK FOR LICENSES

city Attorney Maxfield's construction of the statutes, the meeting to grant these licenses may be held any time before the first of July.

The Woodland Brook

The brook runs on through shady bowers
Of woodland cool and clear, And makes sweet music for the flowers
That dance in sunshine near.

The gentle, dreamy in his voice, Stand resting, half asleep; Enjoying music of their choice, Within its charms knee deep.

The small boy, with his faithful dog, Proclaims the day too short;
And wishes he might ride that log Away into its port.

It lies within the power of few,
To give us much of joy, As does the brook that journeys Through
The woodland, for a boy.

And when it falls to dash along,
When time has run it dry, There's joyful memories of the song, It sang in days gone by.
—C. H. Melers.

POSTUM

"There's a Reason"

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

The only way to learn to do anything is to do it.

The only way to learn to cook or sew is to cook or sew.

That means to make failures as well as success—heavy cakes, jellies that won't jell, biscuits hard as rocks, crooked hems and puckered seams, as well as toothsome dishes and dainty dresses.

Unless one is a genius at anything, the road to success is usually paved with many awkward attempts and some utter failures.

I very frequently hear the American girl scold for her lack of housewifely ability. Much of the time it is the American girl's mother who deserves the scolding.

"Here, let me do that. You're so clumsy at it."

How many times I've heard my capable neighbor say that to her fourteen-year-old daughter, who is just commencing to take an interest in things housewifely.

And then, instead of showing Elinor what she is doing wrongly and how to do it right, she takes the task to herself and in her impatient, capable way beat the cake or sweeps the room or sews the seam while Elinor stands idly by.

In so doing she is selfish. She doesn't realize it and she would be highly indignant if anyone told her so, but she is. It may be painful for her to watch Elinor's clumsy attempts to do what she does so easily, but if the principle is unimpaired she will do well to go where she can't see rather than deprive her daughter of the opportunity to learn from the best teacher on earth—experience.

As it is, Elinor will never really learn much about housekeeping until she has a home of her own. Any many, many other girls who, like Elinor, have impatient, capable mothers, will never learn until they have homes of their own.

One of my college girls whom we always used to laugh at for her absolute ignorance of household affairs and who usually took our jokes very cheerfully, surprised us by turning on us rather warily one day:

"I never had half a chance," she said. "My mother never let me get beyond the A, B, C of housework. I always had to do the simple duties. It was always 'You do the dishes while I make the pudding,' and if I tried anything and was slow and awkward at it, it was usually taken away from me with 'I would rather do it myself than watch you.'"

"Once I went to see a friend of mine and she was sick and I had to get the dinner all myself. She advised me and suggested things but I did everything myself. I learned almost more about cooking in that one morning than I had in all my life before."

It's following the line of least resistance for a capable mother to take the hard task from incapable hands.

It's following the line of least resistance for the daughter to do just the things she knows how to do.

But the good things of this life were never yet won by following the line of least resistance.

J. T. SILVERTHORN WAS LAID AT REST

zen Was Held Sunday Afternoon From Late Home.

[Special to the Gazette.]

Footville, June 28.—The funeral of J. T. Silverthorn, which was held from the late home Sunday afternoon, was largely attended and was conducted by Rev. Ashwallow, pastor of the M.
E. church. The two sons, Bert and John Silverthorn, and two sons-in-law, F. D. Pepper and Marvin Downing, acted as pallbearers. The song service was rendered by the Messrs.
Dollie Strang and Katie Wiggins, and Messrs. Wiggins and Bends, with Mrs.
Clara Luge at the organ. Among those in attendance from out of town were: John Silverthorn of Denver, Colorado, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Downing of Fond du Lac, Dr. G. W. Snyder and wife of Barabon, Mr. and Mrs.
Wm. Smith of Evansville, Mrs. C.
H. Ferguson and Mrs. Adelle Lynn of Beloit.

Miss Hazel Little of Albany visited

When Resting.
When you rest do not place your arms above your head. Many women —most women—do so; but it is against the rules of physiology. That particular position thrusts the muscles of the arms and the chest, contracts the neck and forces one to breathe irregularly.

DAILY DIET HINTS

By DR. T. A. ALLEN
Food Specialist

NUTS AS STAPLE DIET.

Uncooked peanuts or any nuts are not, as many suppose, indigestible, but they differ much in composition from other foods, and therefore do not readily mix; or, what is the same, the system must have time to readjust itself to the digestion of the food to which it was for ages adapted—for nuts and fruits are the most natural food of man. Eating a few nuts at the end of a meal is an error, causing the belief that nuts in general are indigestible. Whole wheat bread harmonizes best with nuts. To adapt the nut and fruit diet, change one meal to whole wheat bread, gradually; then add nuts gradually, till the bread is used only for bulk, which, in time, may be dropped by eating the bread at one meal only. One meal should consist of apples or prunes. Anyone can eat enough at two full meals. Many have subsisted well on one.

THE SECRET OUT.

"What made my lovely complexion? I do not like to tell, for it was medicine, but the secret is out. I want over ten. It was Ladies' Family Medicine that did it." This is a pleasant hint to which act favorably on the stomach and bowels, purifying the blood and clearing the skin like magic. It cures headache and backache, rheumatism and dealers sell it, 25c.

Most old people must give the bowels gentle, constant help. One candy Cascaret each day does that. Harsh physic, taken regularly, makes the bowels callous. Cascarets do not. Nearly all old people now use this natural, gentle help.
